For the purposes of Data Protection Law, Sevenoaks Preparatory School, ("the School"), is the "data controller" of personal data about past, current and prospective pupils, their parents and guardians as well as data about past, current and prospective staff, third party contractors.

This policy is effective from May 2018, except for the section "Photographs and videos" which is effective from September 2018.

What this notice is for

This notice is intended to provide information about how the school will use (or "process") personal data about individuals including: its current, past and prospective pupils; and their parents, carers or guardians (referred to in this policy as "parents"). It also provides some information relevant to the school's staff, but the school's privacy notice for staff provides information specifically about how the school processes staff data.

This information is provided because Data Protection Law gives individuals rights to understand how their data is used. Staff, parents and pupils are all encouraged to read this Privacy Notice and understand the school's obligations to its entire community.

This Privacy Notice applies alongside any other information the school may provide about a particular use of personal data, for example when collecting data via an online or paper form.

This Privacy Notice applies in addition to the school's other relevant terms and conditions and policies, including:

- any contract between the school and parents of its pupils;
- the school's retention of records policy;
- the school's safeguarding, pastoral, and health and safety policies, including how concerns or incidents are recorded; and
- the school's IT policies, including its Online Safety policy, Mobile Devices and Photography Policy and IT Acceptable Use policy.

Anyone who works for, or acts on behalf of, the school (including staff, peripatetic teachers, volunteers, governors and service providers) should also be aware of and comply with this Privacy Notice and the school's data protection notice for staff, which provides further information about how personal data about those individuals will be used.

Responsibility for data protection

The School has a committee of privacy officers:

- Elizabeth Walsh, Bursar – Privacy Committee Secretary
- Liam Rogers, IT & Network Manager

This committee will deal with all your requests and enquiries concerning the school's use of your personal data (see section on Your Rights below) and endeavor to ensure that all personal data is processed in compliance with this policy and Data Protection Law.

You can contact the privacy officers using email address privacy@theprep.org.uk or by speaking to the Bursar.

Why the school needs to process personal data

To carry out its ordinary duties to staff, pupils and parents, the school needs to process a wide range of personal data about individuals (including current, past and prospective staff, pupils or parents) as part of its daily operation.

Some of these activities the school will need to carry out in order to fulfil its legal rights, duties or obligations – including those under a contract with its staff, or parents of its pupils.

Other uses of personal data will be made in accordance with the school's legitimate interests, or the legitimate interests of another, provided that these are not outweighed by the impact on individuals and provided it does not involve special or sensitive types of data, such as health data.

The school expects that the following uses will fall within that category of its (or its community's) "legitimate interests":

- For the purposes of pupil selection and to confirm the identity of prospective pupils and their parents;
- To provide education services, including musical education, physical training or spiritual development, guidance on future education and career services, and extra-curricular activities to pupils, and monitoring pupils' progress and educational needs;
- To bill and collect school fees and extras such as school trips, text books and uniform;
- For the purposes of donor due diligence, and to confirm the identity of prospective donors and their background;
- For the purposes of management planning and forecasting, research and statistical analysis, including that imposed or provided for by law (such as tax, staff pensions, diversity or gender pay gap analysis);
- To enable relevant authorities to monitor the school's performance and to intervene or assist with incidents as appropriate;
- To give and receive information and references about past, current and prospective pupils, including relating to outstanding fees or payment history, to/from any educational institution that the pupil attended or where it is proposed they attend; and to provide references to potential employers of past pupils;

- To enable pupils to take part in national or other assessments, and to publish the results of public examinations or other achievements of pupils of the school;
- To safeguard pupils' welfare and provide appropriate pastoral care;
- To monitor (as appropriate) use of the school's IT and communications systems in accordance with the school's online safety policy, IT acceptable use policy and the Information Technology Monitoring Privacy Notice.
- To monitor the performance of the school's web page and protect it from malicious activity;
- To administer school events (such as concerts or Fireworks Night) and trips;
- For security purposes, including CCTV in accordance with the school's CCTV privacy notice;
- To carry out or cooperate with any school or external complaints, disciplinary or investigation process; and
- Where otherwise reasonably necessary for the school's purposes, including to obtain appropriate professional advice and insurance for the school.

In addition, the school will on occasion need to process special category personal data (concerning health, ethnicity, religion, biometrics or sexual life) or criminal records information (such as when carrying out DBS checks) in accordance with rights or duties imposed on it by law, including as regards safeguarding and employment, or from time to time by explicit consent where required. These reasons will include:

- To safeguard pupils' welfare and provide appropriate pastoral (and where necessary, medical) care, and to take appropriate action in the event of an emergency, incident or accident, including by disclosing details of an individual's medical condition or other relevant information where it is in the individual's interests to do so: for example for medical advice, for social protection, safeguarding, and cooperation with police or social services, for insurance purposes or to caterers or organisers of school trips who need to be made aware of dietary or medical needs;
- To provide educational services in the context of any special educational needs of a pupil;
- To provide spiritual education in the context of any religious beliefs;
- As part of any school or external complaints, disciplinary or investigation process that involves such data, for example if there are SEN, health or safeguarding elements; or
- For legal and regulatory purposes (for example child protection, diversity monitoring and health and safety) and to comply with its legal obligations and duties of care.

Some personal data the school uses only when given consent:

- Use of pupil images for communication and marketing purposes (see "Photographs and videos" below)
- To keep in touch with alumni about school news and events (see "Keeping in touch and supporting the school" below)

Types of personal data processed by the school

This will include by way of example:

- names, addresses, telephone numbers, e-mail addresses and other contact details;
- car details (about those who use our car parking facilities);
- bank details and other financial information, e.g. about parents who pay fees to the school;
- past, present and prospective pupils' academic, disciplinary, admissions and attendance records (including information about any special needs), and examination scripts and marks;
- where appropriate, information about individuals' health and welfare, and contact details for their next of kin;
- references given or received by the school about pupils, and relevant information provided by previous educational establishments and/or other professionals or organisations working with pupils;
- correspondence with and concerning staff, pupils and parents past and present; and
- images of pupils (and occasionally other individuals) engaging in school activities (in accordance with the school's policy on mobile devices and photography), and images captured by the school's CCTV system.

Photographs and videos

The school considers some use of photographs of pupils and staff (including videos) is necessary in the legitimate interests of education, such as when used in classwork or as evidence of attainment. Similarly use of staff photographs for identification within school, such as on name badges, we consider a legitimate interest of the school. We also include the annual whole school photograph of all staff and pupils, team and class photos in this category, as an important part of the school's community spirit and history. Photographs of all visitors to the school site are taken by our CCTV system as described in our CCTV privacy notice.

However for other purposes the school requires consent to use photographs of individuals. This includes:

- in school communications like the newsletter
- in publications such as the Prep Post magazine
- on the school website
- in the school prospectus and other marketing materials
- on the school's social media channels
- if images are shared with external news agencies

The school will usually seek consent using our photographs consent form, given to all parents and staff when they join the school and to all pupils after they reach year 7. As described in the "Your rights" section, you have the right to withdraw this consent. However, in the case of printed publications like the prospectus or Prep Post, after publication it will not be possible to remove your image.

Further details of the school's handling of photographs is contained in the Mobile Devices and Photography Policy.

How the school collects data

Generally, the school receives personal data from the individual directly (including, in the case of pupils, from their parents). This may be via a form, or simply in the ordinary course of interaction or communication (such as email or written assessments).

However in some cases personal data will be supplied by third parties, such as:

- Pupils' previous schools
- Educational or government authorities such as the Disclosure and Barring Service
- Pupil's doctor and other medical practitioners
- Other professionals working with a pupil, such as educational psychologists.

Who has access to personal data and who the school shares it with

Occasionally, the school will need to share personal information relating to its community with third parties, such as:

- professional advisers (e.g. lawyers, insurers, PR advisers and accountants);
- government authorities (e.g. HMRC, DfE, police or the local authority); and
- appropriate regulatory bodies (e.g. NCTL, the Independent Schools Inspectorate, the Charity Commission, the Disclosure and Barring Service or the Information Commissioner).

For the most part, personal data collected by the school will remain within the school, and will be processed by appropriate individuals only in accordance with access protocols (i.e. on a 'need to know' basis). Particularly strict rules of access apply in the context of:

- medical records, which are held and accessed only by the school nurse and appropriate medical staff under their supervision, or otherwise in accordance with express consent; and
- pastoral or safeguarding files which are stored securely as described in the Safeguarding policy.

However, a certain amount of relevant information about any special educational needs that a pupil has will need to be provided to staff more widely in order to provide the necessary care and education that the pupil requires. We will also make all staff aware of any allergies that may affect a pupil or another member of staff.

Staff, pupils and parents are reminded that the school is under duties imposed by law and statutory guidance (including Keeping Children Safe in Education) to record or report incidents and concerns that arise or are reported to it, in some cases regardless of whether they are proven, if they meet a certain threshold of seriousness in their nature or regularity. This is likely to include file notes on personnel or safeguarding files, and in some cases referrals to relevant authorities such as the LADO or police. For further information about this, please view the school's Safeguarding Policy.

As part of these legally required safeguarding duties, the school employs various forms of software to monitor IT systems and internet use. For more details please see the Information Technology Monitoring Privacy Notice.

Finally, in accordance with Data Protection Law, some of the school's processing activity is carried out on its behalf by third parties, such as IT systems, web developers or cloud storage providers. This is always subject to contractual assurances that personal data will be kept securely and only in accordance with the school's specific directions. Some of the IT services used by the school are international companies that store data in countries outside of the UK and European Union, in particular in the USA. However, the school only allows personal data to be stored in countries deemed to provide adequate safeguards by the EU Commission.

How long we keep personal data

The school will retain personal data securely and only in line with how long it is necessary to keep for a legitimate and lawful reason. Typically, the legal recommendation for how long to keep ordinary staff and pupil personnel files is up to 7 years following departure from the school. However, incident reports and safeguarding files will need to be kept much longer, in accordance with specific legal requirements.

For details of how long different records are retained, please see the school's Retention of Records Policy.

If you have any specific queries about how our retention policy is applied, or wish to request that personal data that you no longer believe to be relevant is considered for erasure, please contact the privacy committee. However, please bear in mind that the school will often have lawful and necessary reasons to hold on to some personal data even following such request.

A limited and reasonable amount of information will be kept for archiving purposes, for example; and even where you have requested we no longer keep in touch with you, we will need to keep a record of the fact in order to fulfil your wishes (called a "suppression record").

Keeping in touch and supporting the school

The school will use the contact details of parents and other members of the school community to keep them updated about the activities of the school or events of interest, including by sending updates and newsletters, by email and by post. Unless the relevant individual objects, the school will also contact parents by post and email in order to promote and raise funds for the school. The school asks alumni to opt in to receive such updates and requests.

Should you wish to limit or object to any such use, or would like further information about this, please contact the bursar in writing. You always have the right to withdraw consent, where given, or otherwise object to direct marketing or fundraising. However, the school may need nonetheless to retain some of your details (not least to ensure that no more communications are sent to that particular address, email or telephone number).

Your rights

- Rights

Individuals have various rights under Data Protection Law to access and understand personal data about them held by the school, and in some cases ask for it to be erased or amended or have it transferred to others, or for the school to stop processing it – but subject to certain exemptions and limitations.

Any individual wishing to access or amend their personal data, or wishing it to be transferred to another person or organisation, or who has some other objection to how their personal data is used, should put their request in writing to the bursar.

The school will endeavour to respond to any such written requests as soon as is reasonably practicable and in any event within statutory time-limits (which is one month in the case of requests for access to information).

The school will be better able to respond quickly to smaller, targeted requests for information. If the request for information is manifestly excessive or similar to previous requests, the school may ask you to reconsider, or require a proportionate fee (but only where Data Protection Law allows it).

- Requests that cannot be fulfilled

You should be aware that the right of access is limited to your own personal data, and certain data is exempt from the right of access. This will include information which identifies other individuals (and parents need to be aware this may include their own children, in certain limited situations – please see further below), or information which is subject to legal privilege (for example legal advice given to or sought by the school, or documents prepared in connection with a legal action).

The school is also not required to disclose any pupil examination scripts (or other information consisting solely of pupil test answers), provide examination or other test marks ahead of any ordinary publication, nor share any confidential reference given by the school itself for the purposes of the education, training or employment of any individual.

You may have heard of the "right to be forgotten". However, we will sometimes have compelling reasons to refuse specific requests to amend, delete or stop processing your (or your child's) personal data: for example, a legal requirement, or where it falls within a legitimate interest identified in this Privacy Notice. All such requests will be considered on their own merits.

- Pupil requests

Pupils can make subject access requests for their own personal data, provided that, in the reasonable opinion of the school, they have sufficient maturity to understand the request they are making (see section Whose Rights? below). A pupil of any age may ask a parent or other representative to make a subject access request on his/her behalf.

Indeed, while a person with parental responsibility will generally be entitled to make a subject access request on behalf of younger pupils, the law still considers the information in question to be the child's: for older pupils, the parent making the request may need to evidence their child's authority for the specific request.

Pupils aged 12 and above are generally assumed to have this level of maturity, although this will depend on both the child and the personal data requested, including any relevant circumstances at home. Slightly younger children may however be sufficiently mature to have a say in this decision, depending on the child and the circumstances.

- Parental requests, etc.

It should be clearly understood that the rules on subject access are not the sole basis on which information requests are handled. Parents may not have a statutory right to information, but they and others will often have a legitimate interest or expectation in receiving certain information about pupils without their consent. The school may consider there are lawful grounds for sharing with or without reference to that pupil.

All information requests from, on behalf of, or concerning pupils – whether made under subject access or simply as an incidental request – will therefore be considered on a case by case basis.

- Consent

Where the school is relying on consent as a means to process personal data, any person may withdraw this consent at any time (subject to similar age considerations as above). Examples where we do rely on consent are: use of photographs in communications, and alumni communications. Please be aware however that the school may not be relying on consent but have another lawful reason to process the personal data in question even without your consent.

That reason will usually have been asserted under this Privacy Notice, or may otherwise exist under some form of contract or agreement with the individual (e.g. an employment or parent contract, or because a purchase of goods, services or membership of an organisation has been requested).

- Whose rights?

The rights under data protection law belong to the individual to whom the data relates. However, the school will often rely on parental authority or notice for the necessary ways it processes personal data relating to pupils – for example, under the parent contract, or via a form. Parents and pupils should be aware that this is not necessarily the same as the school relying on strict consent (see section on Consent above).

Where consent is required, it may in some cases be necessary or appropriate – given the nature of the processing in question, and the pupil's age and understanding – to seek the pupil's consent. Parents should be aware that in such situations they may not be consulted, depending on the interests of the child, the parents' rights at law or under their contract, and all the circumstances.

In general, the school will assume that pupils' consent is not required for ordinary disclosure of their personal data to their parents, e.g. for the purposes of keeping parents informed about the pupil's activities, progress and behaviour, and in the interests of the pupil's welfare. That is unless, in the school's opinion, there is a good reason to do otherwise.

However, where a pupil seeks to raise concerns confidentially with a member of staff and expressly withholds their agreement to their personal data being disclosed to their parents, the school may be under an obligation to maintain confidentiality unless, in the school's opinion, there is a good reason to do otherwise; for example where the school believes disclosure will be in the best interests of the pupil or other pupils, or if required by law.

Pupils are required to respect the personal data and privacy of others, and to comply with the school's Internet acceptable use policy, the school rules and "The Way of Life". Staff are under professional duties to do the same covered under the relevant staff policies in the staff handbook and employee Manual.

Data accuracy and security

The school will endeavor to ensure that all personal data held in relation to an individual is as up to date and accurate as possible. Individuals must please notify the school office of any significant changes to important information, such as contact details, held about them.

An individual has the right to request that any out-of-date, irrelevant or inaccurate or information about them is erased or corrected (subject to certain exemptions and limitations under data protection law): please see above for details of why the school may need to process your data, of who you may contact if you disagree.

The school will take appropriate technical and organisational steps to ensure the security of personal data about individuals, including policies around use of technology and devices, and access to school systems. All staff and governors will be made aware of this policy and their duties under Data Protection Law and receive relevant training.

This policy

The school will update this Privacy Notice from time to time. Any substantial changes that affect your rights will be provided to you directly as far as is reasonably practicable.

Queries and complaints

Any comments or queries on this policy should be directed to our privacy officers using the email address privacy@theprep.org.uk.

If an individual believes that the school has not complied with this policy or acted otherwise than in accordance with Data Protection Law, they should utilise the school complaints procedure. You can also make a referral to or lodge a complaint with the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO), although the ICO recommends that steps are taken to resolve the matter with the school before involving the regulator.
